« Disgorged in November 2017, this bottle of Delamotte's NV Blanc de Blancs was showing very well, offering up a classy bouquet dominated by aromas of dried white flowers and crushed rock, with hints of green apple, lemon oil and brioche playing a supporting role. On the palate, the wine is medium to full-bodied, bright and incisive, marrying structural tension with sufficient charm to make this a decidedly versatile Blanc de Blancs. The finish is pure and chalky. »

“Delamotte, established in 1760, is the sister maison of “Salon,” the most sought-after champagne in the world. In years when a “Salon” vintage, made from 100% Grand Cru Chardonnay grapes that constitute a mere 5% of the entire production, is not produced, the grapes are utilized for this Blanc de Blancs. With refreshing, inviting flavors of citrus and golden-brown toast, you'll unwind with this champagne and it is versatile enough to be enjoyed not only as an aperitif, but also as an elegant accompaniment to your meal.”
